Reports.

The North German ship Pilger reports experienced fine weather and Northerly winds to the Linschoten Island on the 19th, thence to Formosa S.W. winds, blowing hard with rain, lying three days under close reefed topsails. On the 29th had N. Easterly winds with rain until arrival.

The Spanish steamer Manila reports light Southerly winds and extremely smooth water to the Pratas, thence Easterly winds and a heavy curious cross sea from E.N.E. and S.E. with S.W. roll, then foggy on approaching the land, anchored in the West Lamma at 7 P.M. of the 30th instant.

The Danish brig J. F. Ericksen reports on leaving Newcastle, experienced fresh N.E. winds for two days, then light S.E. winds, which became light and baffling with calm spells all the way to the Equator; sighted St. John's Cape, on the 18th February, on the coast of New Ireland; crossed the line on the 27th, in long. 151.33 E.; found the N.E. trades very light, often experiencing baffling airs and calms; made Gadd's Reef on the 27th March, then Westerly winds for two days. Since which strong N.E. winds with heavy fog; 78 days out. On the 12th February communicated with a small fore and aft schooner of 20 tons called the Georgina Godfrey, Sydney, in lat. 6 S., and long. 150 E. in want of provisions. Reported bound to Hongkong, but there was something suspicious about this vessel, and her movements.

The British bark Agnes Bamfield reports experienced a long spell of N.E. winds on leaving Sydney, which drove the ship well over to New Zealand; in lat. S., and long. 161 E. the wind veered by W., round to S.E. which permitted the ship to lay her course. On the 2nd February, it commenced to blow at N., and worked round to N.E.; on the 3rd it backed round N. again, wore ship to the S.E., when it blew heavy; lat. 23.28 S., long. 171.23 E. On the 4th, the wind veered N.W., suffered some damage in canvas, and had the decks full of water, lying to under a weather cloth, barometer 28.2. Passed Teucopia on the 17th Feb., and crossed the Equator on the 27th, in long. 157.24 E. having experienced light winds all the way, after the gale broke. On March 4th, made Namonouyto, an isolated reef in the Colima Group, distant 10 miles; carried light S.E. and S. winds across the region of the N.E. trades; passed West of the Ladrones, made the Bashees on the March 24th, thence Westerly winds until the 29th, when it hauled to E. and N.E. with much fog; 67 days out. On the 13th February, in lat. 15.64 S. and long. 170.34 E., spoke the French barque Conrado, from Newcastle, N.S.W., to China. 17 days out.

CHARLES BARNARD, CLERKENWELL, LONDON, begs to inform the merchants of Hongkong that he will shortly introduce to their notice the "ELECTRO-CARBONIZED" PENS, recently invented and manufactured by him; and has no doubt, from the marked favor shown them, both in Europe and America, that the "Carbonized" Pens will also meet their approval. The above Pens possess many great advantages over the ordinary steel pens, not the least of which is their not being so liable to corrosion; the points are made circular, and will not cut or spatter through the thinnest or coarsest paper. They are uncommonly smooth on the point, and do not tire the hand or arm after excessive writing, neither do they leave that disagreeable cramped feeling usually experienced after writing a length of time, and will, if carefully used, out-last six or eight ordinary steel pens. The "Electro-Carbonized" Pens are used in preference to all others, not excepting Gold, by the principal Government offices, Bank, and Commercial houses in Europe and America.

[From the "European Mail."]

"GOOD PENS.—We noticed last week the excellency of Mr. Barnard's pens, and can now further attest to their superiority over any that we have ever used. This paragraph is written with the same which indited that of last week. It has lain with the ink upon it all the time since; and to-day it is as flexible and free as the first moment we used it. We feel perfect confidence in saying that the ink will not corrode these pens."

Reports.

The North German ship Pilger reports experienced fine weather and Northerly winds to the Linschoten Island on the 19th, thence to Formosa S.W. winds, blowing hard with rain, lying three days under close reefed topsails. On the 29th had N. Easterly winds with rain until arrival.

The Spanish steamer Manila reports light Southerly winds and extremely smooth water to the Pratas, thence Easterly winds and a heavy curious cross sea from E.N.E. and S.E. with S.W. roll, then foggy on approaching the land, anchored in the West Lamma at 7 P.M. of the 30th instant.

The Danish brig J. F. Ericksen reports on leaving Newcastle, experienced fresh N.E. winds for two days, then light S.E. winds, which became light and baffling with calm spells all the way to the Equator; sighted St. John's Cape, on the 18th February, on the coast of New Ireland; crossed the line on the 27th, in long. 151.33 E.; found the N.E. trades very light, often experiencing baffling airs and calms; made Gadd's Reef on the 27th March, then Westerly winds for two days. Since which strong N.E. winds with heavy fog; 78 days out. On the 12th February communicated with a small fore and aft schooner of 20 tons called the Georgina Godfrey, Sydney, in lat. 6.8 S. and long. 150 E. in want of provisions. Reported bound to Hongkong, but there was something suspicious about this vessel, and her movements.

The British bark Agnes Bamfield reports experienced a long spell of N.E. winds on leaving Sydney, which drove the ship well over to New Zealand; in lat. S. and long. 161 E. the wind veered by W. round to S.E. which permitted the ship to lay her course. On the 2nd February, it commenced to blow at N., and worked round to N.E.; on the 3rd it backed round N. again, wore ship to the S.E., when it blew heavy, lat. 23.28 S., long. 171.23 E. On the 4th, the wind veered N.W., suffered some damage in canvas, and had the decks full of water, lying to under a weather cloth, barometer 28.2. Passed Tucopia on the 17th, Feb., and crossed the Equator on the 27th, in long. 157.24 E. having experienced light winds all the way, after the gale broke. On March 4th, made Namonuoyto, an isolated reef in the Caluma Group, distant 10 miles; carried light S.E. and S. winds across the region of the N.E. trades; passed West of the Ladrones, made the Bashees on the March 24th, thence Westerly winds until the 29th, when it hauled to E. and N.E. with much fog; 67 days out. On the 13th February, in lat. 15.64 S. and long. 170.34 E., spoke the French barque Comrade, from Newcastle, N.S.W., to China, 17 days out.

CHARLES BARNARD, CLERKENWELL, LONDON, begs to inform the merchants of Hongkong that he will shortly introduce to their notice the "ELECTRO-CARBONIZED" PENS, recently invented and manufactured by him; and has no doubt, from the marked favor shown them, both in Europe and America, that the "Carbonized" Pens will also meet their approval. The above Pens possess many great advantages over the ordinary steel pens, not the least of which is their not being so liable to corrosion; the points are made circular, and will not cut or spatter through the thinnest or coarsest paper. They are uncommonly smooth on the point, and do not tire the hand or arm after excessive writing, neither do they leave that disagreeable cramped feeling usually experienced after writing a length of time, and will, if carefully used, out-last six or eight ordinary steel pens. The "Electro-Carbonized" Pens are used in preference to all others, not excepting Gold, by the principal Government offices, Bank, and Commercial houses in Europe and America.

"GOOD PENS.—We noticed last week the excellency of Mr. Barnard's pens, and can now further attest to their superiority over any that we have ever used. This paragraph is written with the same which indited that of last week. It has lain with the ink upon it all the time since; and to-day it is as flexible and free as the first moment we used it. We feel perfect confidence in saying that the ink will not corrode these pens."

With Power to add Three to their Number.

General Agents, pro tem.
MESSRS. JOHN FORSTER & Co., FOOCHOW.
Superintendent,—
CAPTAIN JOHN C. SKEY.

THE scheme has been fully discussed by the Foochow Community, to whom it was in the first instance submitted, and who generally appreciate its advantages, but require outside funds to assist in carrying it through. At a general Meeting, a special Committee of five Gentlemen was elected to investigate and consider the project. The Report furnished was highly satisfactory, and was supported by a Survey Report by competent authorities upon the condition of the Dock and Premises.

The object of the Company is to take over from MR. JOHN FORSTER the Dock at the Pagoda Anchorage, known as the Foochow Dock, with the property and machinery attached, valued together at $130,000, and also the Tug-Steamer Woosung, valued at $10,000. The remaining $60,000 will be used for the purchase of stock and materials (of which a considerable quantity is on hand, and is offered at cost price); for the improvement of the establishment; and for the purchase of an additional Tug-Steamer; in accordance with the recommendation of the special Committee for working the whole to best advantage.

By arrangement with MR. JOHN FORSTER, the Company will take over the property to be purchased from him, from the 1st January of the present year; from which date all profits on the business are to accrue to them, while he shall receive interest at the rate of 9 per cent. per annum on the amount of purchase money, until paid up.

The Company will be managed by a Board of Five Directors, two of whom are now elected, with the power to add three more to their number. Three will retire annually, but are eligible for re-election.

The funds of the Company will be entirely under the control of the Board.

A statement of accounts will be submitted to a Meeting of the Resident Shareholders, to be held annually, when a dividend will be declared.

Applications for Shares, in the annexed form, to be addressed to MESSRS. JOHN FORSTER & Co., Foochow, who will act as General Agents until all are allotted.

An application for Shares, followed by an allotment thereupon, will constitute the applicant a Shareholder in the Company.

The deed of settlement will be duly prepared, and copies will be furnished to the Shareholders when ready.

FORM OF APPLICATION FOR SHARES.

FOOCHOW DOCK COMPANY.

GENTLEMEN,— request you to allot to Shares of $100 each in the above Company; and agree to accept such Shares or any less number you may allot to and to pay the Calls thereon; and authorize you to place name on the Register of Shareholders for the Shares alloted.

REPORT ON THE PROJECTED DOCK SCHEME,
FOOCHOW, 12th February, 1870.

When it was lately proposed by Mr. John Forster to transfer his interest in the Dock at Pagoda Anchorage to a public company, the community of Foochow, taking the proposal into consideration, appointed a committee of five gentlemen, for the purpose of investigating the merits of the scheme, and of reporting to the community the result of their investigations.

The Committee so appointed has had two objects in view: 1st, to ascertain the actual condition of the Dock; 2nd, to consider after a careful examination of the books if the scheme were likely to prove a remunerative one.

As far as the first point is concerned, the committee is satisfied that the Dock at Pagoda Anchorage is in excellent order and full worth the value placed upon it. Two competent men uninterested in the scheme, have at the request of the committee, surveyed the Dock thoroughly, viz.: Captain Bisbee, Divisional Inspector of the Maritime Customs, and Captain Shaw, one of the Surveyors established at the Anchorage, whose report will be found appended, Captain Davidson, Commander H. M. S. Hornet, has also kindly allowed the use of his name in support of the statement of the above-named gentlemen, having himself taken the trouble to make a careful survey of the property. The Committee has therefore no hesitation in endorsing the conclusion arrived at by the surveyors, and in declaring themselves satisfied on the first point before them.

Regarding the second point, a sub-committee composed of Messrs. Masfen and Dalrymple has been deputed to examine the books, and to report to what extent they might find it practicable to reduce the actual expenses of the Dock. Their report shows that during the two years ending 30th to June last, over which their examination extended, all the coals used for the steamer and at the Dock had been bought at Foochow. The Committee therefore may with confidence affirm that a considerable reduction might be effected under that head. They would have the same opinion to give regarding the purchase of other materials necessary for the working of the Dock, which, it appears from the books, were nearly all purchased in Hongkong and on the spot, at a probable average cost of at least 15 to 20 per cent. above the cost of direct importation. As regards salaries, &c., of the staff, the Committee is satisfied that the reduced scale sanctioned by the Superintendent, Captain J. C. Skey, can be carried out without impairing the efficiency of the concern.

The Committee is therefore of opinion that it would not be unreasonable for the shareholders to expect a Dividend of from 15 to 18 per cent. on their investment; and as the capabilities of the Dock become better known, an even larger return might be looked for.

Should the scheme meet with sufficient support, it is proposed to form a company with a total capital of $200,000, to be raised in 2,000 shares of $100 each, of which $50 to be called up at once, a further $25 at the expiration of three months, and the remaining $25 at the end of six months. With this capital, the actual establishment might be improved, a second and strong Tug-boat might be purchased, and a balance of between $30,000 to $35,000 would still remain to work the Dock.

It is hardly necessary for the committee to allude to the importance to the company of undertaking the Towage of the Port. The account shown of the working of the steamer Woosung during the past two years, speaks for itself; and the purchase of a second Tug-boat, would, it is believed, go far to secure the monopoly of this business.

Many other improvements which might be effected by a new company, would, no doubt, tend to increase the annual dividend of the shareholders; but such details the committee feel should be in the province of the future Directors to determine.

Mr. Forster has offered to allow the new company to take over the Dock and steamer Woosung from the 1st January, 1870; all the profits from that date going to the credit of the company, and he to receive interest at the rate of 9 per cent. per annum from that date until the purchase money be paid up. Considering that about $4,000 have been collected during the past month, and that a contract for extensive repairs has been entered into with the N. G. Bark Sampan, the proposal cannot be regarded as otherwise than a fair one, and to the benefit of the new company. All questions of detail, and petty disbursements incurred subsequently to 1st January, 1870, might be left to be arranged by the Board of Directors with Mr. Forster, on the understanding that the amount thereof should not exceed $1,000.

The Committee, having now fulfilled the duties imposed upon it by the community, it rests with the latter, should they be favorably disposed, to inaugurate some scheme, such as that above proposed, by which a company might be at once formed to undertake the working of the business.

SURVEY REPORT ON THE FOOCHOW DOCK.

The undersigned having been called upon by the Baron de Meritens to survey and report upon the Foochow Dock, report as follows, viz.:—

We find this Dock in a thorough good working order and condition: it has a good stone foundation: the two lower terraces are also of stone, and the upper sides are well piled, &c. We find the Caisson in a good efficient state, strongly built of iron bark; sides and deck of Oregon pine; bottom and some of the side planks of iron bark; bottom metal sheathed. This Caisson is perfectly water-tight and well fitted with pumps and sluices, &c. The Dock has apparently no leaks, is well and properly fitted with good blocks of iron bark wood. Engines and pumps tried in our presence are found to be in first class order. There is a Whitworth's Lathe and some good serviceable machinery useful for repairing steamers, &c. Blacksmith's shop with three forges well serviceable for the repairs of ships, &c., but the building is not in proper order. The Dock has a good Engine House, good Godowns, and Timber sheds, and a large and good supply of Timber, Spars, &c., and all necessaries for the requirements of the Dock.

The Daily Press.

HONGKONG, APRIL 1ST, 1870.

IT is becoming more and more evident that there is very little likelihood of the Convention for the revision of the Treaty being ratified, without considerable modifications. In the face of SIR RUTHERFORD ALCOCK's explanations of it, the Times is constrained to admit the probability of its resulting in complete disappointment. It avows it is impossible to disguise the fact that, "whereas the Chinese will certainly obtain all we have undertaken to give, it is by no means certain that we shall be equally fortunate in return. If the Convention be ratified, the new import duty will infallibly be levied, and opium will pay more in going in and silk in coming out; but the concessions in our favour do not admit of such compendious and certain application." Having however said so much as this, the Times is careful to shield itself from the possibility of enunciating an unpopular view, and concludes its article by a simple summary, not of its opinions, but of the arguments advanced by SIR RUTHERFORD ALCOCK in defence of the Convention. However, it may be fairly concluded that matters are progressing towards a solution, when the leading journal at home expresses itself so definitely as is done in the above extract, upon a question of this nature. There has hitherto been an undisguised desire on the part of the whole Liberal Press to ignore the China difficulty altogether; but fortunately the representations, which have been made, have rendered this impossible, and the cat has at last been allowed to jump out the bag. The able memorial from the London merchants appears, in fact, to have been too much for even the most obstinate and prejudiced; and the clear and obviously earnest expression of their views must have contrasted strongly in the minds of home readers, with the sophistical and weak arguments which are advanced by the Minister in defence of his action. He is constrained to admit almost in so many words that he was lamentably and ignominiously defeated by the Chinese. In his despatch to Lord CLARENDON, given in Tuesday's paper, he states that, after vainly endeavouring to bring the Chinese up to negotiating point, "it became apparent that the only chance of arriving at any better result must lie in more direct negotiations with the Yamen, and Mr. HART having offered himself as a medium of semi-official communication between Sir RUTHERFORD and WENSIANG, and the rest of the Yamun, he availed himself of his services." That is to say, the Chinese contrived to make the British Minister lower himself to the position of their hired Inspector of Customs, before they would have anything to say to him, and when they did begin to negotiate, they succeeded in getting 50 per cent. more duties promised in return for merely imaginary concessions; while by the ingenious introductions of a proviso, that if we wish to avail ourselves of the most favoured nation clause, we must take the concessions with the same conditions attached to them as are accepted by the other nations, a principle is introduced that may be so worked as ultimately to do away with the larger portion of the privileges granted in the existing Treaty. It is fortunate that the subject is at the present time coming before the public at home in a light which will be easily understood in these days of debit and credit legislation. The Memorial from the Home Merchants, of which a portion is given in to-day's paper, sets forth that the monetary concessions to the Chinese in increased duties amount to no less than £790,000, while those which they make in return amount only to £6,700. There are of course many wider grounds on which the merits of the Convention could be argued, but there are none that are likely to be more telling with the public at home. Placed in this light, the subject becomes one that everybody can understand; and it is clear from the change of tone in the leading papers that the matter of fact representations of the merchants at home are producing a steady effect both upon the public and the Government.

The San Francisco Minstrels will perform this evening, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Holland.

Another of the Shanghai residents has started on an expedition to the Yellow River.

A correspondent of the Daily News hears that the French missionaries are dissatisfied with the way in which the concessions gained by M. de Rochechouart are being carried out.

Mr. F. Major's Hankow Circular states that news are to hand overland from the North reporting the defeat, with severe loss, of the Imperial troops in Kansuh, by Mahomedan and Nienfei rebels.

The authorities at Peking have adopted Ting Foo-tai's suggestion to ship the rice tribute to the capital in foreign bottoms, and have appointed two commissioners with the rank of Taoutai to superintend the shipments.

The following items from the Straits Times are of interest:—

Mr. Apcar, the owner of the Thunder, the vessel lost in the cyclone of 1867, with about twenty lakhs of treasure on board, has written to Captain Howe to say that he considers the search made after the cyclone to have been sufficient. Mr. Apcar also states that the recent reports of the discovery of the wreck in the Sunderbunds were entirely groundless.

Captain Oldfield, R.N., who was sent by the British Indian Extension Telegraph Company to survey for an alternative line overland, through Burmah and Siam, to join the sea cable at Singapore, has crossed the peninsula from Bangkok to Tavoy. He reports favourably of the route as free from obstructions.

By the steamer Penang, we have files of Rangoon papers to the 9th and Moulmein 11th inst. The only item of importance from Rangoon is that a large fire occurred there on the evening of the 7th ultimo, among some of the better class of Burmese houses, destroying about one hundred buildings. The loss is roughly estimated at about Rs. 70,000.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE.

BEFORE, C. MAY ESQ.
March 30th.

DRUNKEN FREAK.

Otto Kess, of Prussia, and Charles Schroeder, of Germany, both seamen unemployed, were charged with quarrelling and fighting in the street, about 10 P.M. on the 28th instant. According to the evidence of P.C. 67, James Donnelly, who apprehended the second defendant in the Queen's-road, he had confessed that he had thrown a bottle, but without the intention of hurting any one, being at the time in liquor. This bottle was thrown from out of the boarding house of a man named Smith, and struck Edward H. Leary on the head, knocking him down, and cutting his face near the right eye. Second defendant having repeated that he threw the bottle, and was very sorry for it and the consequence, and having stated that he threw it into the street without aiming at one passing, was fined £5, in default two months imprisonment, and first defendant was discharged.

SUSPICIOUS CHARACTERS.

Chong-a-chong and Chun-a-yow, both of Kwai-shun, hawkers, were charged with being out after hours without passes. When observed by the police, they were walking near the Mint, about 0.45 a.m. of the 30th instant, on seeing the police they endeavoured to hide behind a wall. The first defendant was recognised by the Head Turnkey of Victoria Gaol, as having been committed for escape in 1868, and then ordered to serve four months' with hard labour, and to find security for six months; upon finding this security he was discharged in February, 1869. On the 13th June, 1869, he was again convicted of attempting to rob the house of Messrs. Holliday, Wise & Co., and was sentenced to six months' hard labour, and ordered to find security in $200 to answer any charge for twelve months. Having found this security, he was discharged on the 10th December, 1869.

First defendant confessed that the history of his previous career was true, and pleaded that he thought it was daylight, and was on his road to buy vegetables. Sent to gaol for three months with hard labour, and at the expiration to find security in two householders, each in $250, to answer any charge for twelve months, in default to be recommended to H.E. the Governor for deportation; second defendant to find security in two householders in $25 each, for two months.

LOAFERS.

Kwok-a-ling and Yeep-a-low, of Heungshan, unemployed, charged with loafing about gambling houses, and trying to squeeze successful gamblers, as well as following Europeans into shops, were ordered to find security in $5 cash, for one month.

A SOPORIFIC.

Tung-a-shum, of Poonyu, a coolie, who was charged on the 8th instant with stealing a ball of opium from a chest forming part of the cargo on board the steamship Phase, belonging to the Messageries Imperiales, which case was remanded until the return of the ship, when on the point of sailing, was convicted of the theft, on the evidence of two of the seamen who were in the hold of the ship, one of whom detected him in the act of putting his hand into an opium chest, which was not in good order, and taking from it a ball of opium, which he wrapped in a piece of linen, while the other saw his comrade make the arrest and the ball of opium in the prisoner's hand. The man was taken at once to an officer, to whom was given the ball of opium.

Defendant denied taking the opium, and also all knowledge of the why of his arrest. Sentenced to three months' imprisonment with hard labour.

Cases of throwing rubbish into the street, of brawling in licensed brothels, of no pass, of indecent exposure, &c., concluded the morning sheets.

March 31st.
BEFORE C. MAY, ESQ.
UNLAWFUL POSSESSION.

Chun-a-sain, of Sunon, a boatman unemployed, was charged on the 29th inst., with being in unlawful possession of an anchor, and the case was remanded until the 31st. The defendant was yesterday convicted, and sentenced to four months' imprisonment with hard labour. He was seen by Jummal Singh, I.P.C. 336, stationed at the Union Dock, coming as if from Kowloon, carrying an anchor, with which he went on board a boat. The constable, laying down his musket, followed the defendant and took hold of him, when he resisted so violently that both fell overboard. He succeeded in overpowering the defendant, when another constable came up, who got the anchor produced in Court. The constable's clothes were torn, and he received several scratches in the struggle.

Defendant having stated that he was carpenter on board a Kowloon passage boat, and that he had brought the anchor from Kowloon to carry it in the passage boat to his native place, having received it as a gift from his brother, and he had resisted the constable, because he did not know what he wanted with him. On the 31st, Ow-a-you, master of a Kowloon passage boat, stated that on the night of the 28th inst. his boat was alongside of a wharf at Kowloon City, and at midnight he had discovered that his anchor had been removed from the bow of his boat; he had seen the anchor in situ shortly before missing it. He then sent his boatmen to Yow-ma-tee and other places to enquire, and heard of the police having an anchor, this one he identified as his lost anchor. He knew the defendant as a boatman, employed in a Kowloon boat.

ALLEGED ASSAULT.

Tang-a-ping, a cook in the service of Mr. Robert Reed, summoned his employer for unlawfully assaulting and beating him, the complainant. From the evidence of defendant, it was the complainant who had tried by most provoking behaviour, and grossly insulting and filthy language, both in English and Chinese, to incite him to strike, so the case was discharged.

STEALING SLIPPERS.

Chun-a-kwong, of Namhoi, a coolie, having helped himself to ten pairs of slippers from a lot landing from Shanghai, on the Praya Central, naively told his Worship that he had picked them up from the ground. Sentenced to six weeks' imprisonment with hard labour.

UNION INSURANCE MEETING.

The Ordinary Half-yearly Meeting of Shareholders in this Society was held yesterday at the Company's offices, for the purpose of receiving the report of the directors, and of passing the accounts to the 31st December last.

Present: Hon. H. B. Gibb in the chair; Messrs. W. H. Forbes, H. B. Lemann, S. D. Sassoon, and G. J. Helland, directors; Hon. R. Rowett, Hon. P. Ryrie, Messrs. S. E. Burrows, H. Melchers, H. C. Caldwell, R. Watmore, E. N. Belilios, M. P. Jukes, A. Coxon, J. J. dos Remedios, E. von Destjen, C. E. Badé, and Rozario.

The SECRETARY read the report as follows:—

REPORT.

The Directors have the pleasure to lay before you the annexed statement of the affairs of the Society for the half year ending on the 31st December last, and showing at that date, exclusive of the reserve of $250,000, a balance at credit of $279,839.08, together with a further sum representing paid-up Capital of $250,000.

From the above amount of $279,839.08, the Directors recommend the payment of a Second Dividend of $500 per share, which on 250 Shares will absorb $125,000, and also that a further sum of $62,500 be set apart for future division amongst contributing Shareholders, thus leaving a balance of $92,339.08 to be carried forward on Current Account.

The Directors feel that they may with propriety congratulate the Shareholders on the result of the last six months' working, as shown by these figures, notwithstanding the unusual number of total losses that have occurred by the wrecks of the fine ships Devonport, Inarime, Spindrift, Westburn, and Cornelia Hendrika, in all of which the Society is interested.

The subsequent claims paid since the 31st December last, together with such as are pending, which include all known losses to date, cannot be estimated at a less sum than $110,000.

Further net premia to the extent of about $90,000 may be considered as earned since the 31st December last, and will appear in due course to the Society's Credit.

AGENCIES.

A new Agency has been opened at Manila, under the care of Messrs. Peele, Hubbell & Co., and the Saigon Branch will in future be superintended by Messrs. Hauschild & Sörnsen of that port. The Nagasaki Agency has been temporarily closed.

DIRECTORS.

The Directors have to deplore the death of Mr. J. P. Duncanson, the Society's late chairman; and Mr. William Lemann having resigned on leaving the Colony, the vacancies have been filled by the nomination of the Honorable H. B. Gibb and Mr. H. B. Lemann, appointments which require confirmation by the Shareholders at this Meeting.

In accordance with rule No. 103 of the Articles of Association, two Members of the Board, Messrs. S. D. Sassoon and E. A. Hitchcock, retire from Office, but being eligible offer themselves for re-election.

AUDITORS.

Messrs. J. Hart and C. Morland Ker retire, but are eligible for re-election, and offer themselves accordingly.

By Order of Board of Directors,
ROBERT WATMORE,
Secretary.
Hongkong, 15th March, 1870.

The CHAIRMAN hoped this report would meet with the approval of shareholders, as he was sure it could not be considered otherwise than very satisfactory.

The Report was adopted on the motion of Mr. S. E. Burrows, seconded by the Hon. P. Ryrie.

The CHAIRMAN said the next business was to declare the dividend recommended in the Report. He supposed it would not be difficult to find a shareholder to propose a dividend of $500 per share.

Mr. E. N. BELILIOS proposed, and Mr. H. Melchers seconded, the declaration of the dividend, as recommended by the Directors. This motion was unanimously carried.

The CHAIRMAN then remarked that circumstances, which he deeply deplored, and he was sure he might say which they all deeply deplored, had led to his being made chairman for the time. He referred to the death of their late chairman, Mr. J. P. Duncanson. Mr. Lemann had also been appointed a director on the resignation of his brother who had gone to England. Both these appointments required to be confirmed by the Meeting.

The confirmation of these appointments was then proposed by Mr. S. E. Burrows, seconded by the Hon. P. Ryrie, and carried unanimously.

The next question was that of the retiring directors, Messrs. S. D. Sassoon, and E. A. Hitchcock, who, the Chairman said, were eligible for re-election, and being useful and active men, their coadjutors would be very glad if they were re-elected.

Mr. S. E. Burrows, seconded by Mr. E. von Destjen, proposed to this effect, and the motion was agreed to, nem. con.

The only other business was the election of Auditors. Messrs. J. Hart and C. Morland Ker, the retiring officers, were re-elected, on the motion of the Hon. R. Rowett, seconded by Mr. E. N. Belilios.

A vote of thanks to the Chairman and directors brought the meeting to a close.

EVIL, THAT GOOD MAY COME OF IT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS."

SIR,—Nothing could have been more opportune than the arrival of the mail this morning, bringing us, the poor benighted and ignored Public of Victoria, intelligence of the position of Hongkong and its Governor in the political world at home, while our palates and all our senses were in the very act of being nauseated by the matter of His Excellency's speech in the Legislative Council, wherein he speaks of the cordial co-operation of heads of departments. Fancy a man talking thus to a Community, which knows that he himself is the head of each department, and consequently cannot quarrel with himself. The point to which your attention is requested is this, Sir Rutherford Alcock is universally condemned and twitted as a gulpin, for foisting on the diplomatic world, both in Europe and America, the idea that the Chinese were about to go into the cultivation of opium to thrust the foreign drug out of the market, and when this shall be accomplished, then to make the continued cultivation of the poppy in the Empire, illegal.

Now, let the question be asked: Is this Chinese programme more foolish than the argument put forth by the Governor that gambling was legalised with a view to its ultimate suppression? The opium question touches all our pockets; great is the outcry in consequence; the other is allowed to slide with a few not to be mistaken sneers at its shallowness; yet in this question there is great admiration for the very questionable sort of talent which enables a man to misdirect the public, cajole the Colonial-office, and to plant a huge blot on the Empire. Is this the sort of wisdom for which prayer is made, or is it the case that the wisdom of the wise is confounded, because they draw near with their lips, while in their hearts they are far off, or is this also a

THE POLICE FORCE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS."

SIR,—It has been shown that crime has greatly decreased since 1865, and it is well known that the Police, deficient though they then were, yet were considered more successful than they are now.

About this period the strength of the force was under 400, and its entire cost little over $100,000, whereas according to the Estimates of this year, the authorized strength is 736, inclusive of rank, file, and even horse and chair-coolies, and its expenditure $202,012. Since that epoch immense sums have been expended for Police purposes by the Surveyor-General's Department. Laws have been amended and improved so as to facilitate the working of the Police, and the population has not increased.

How is it then, that the numerical strength and cost should have nearly doubled? What have we to show for this immense increase in expenditure? Have we more confidence in the Police than we had at the former period?

Some of our leading merchants have little Police Forces of their own; witness that belonging to Jardine, Matheson & Co.; others are increasing the number of their private watchmen; while the Chinese have organised a Force of their own. These are facts that speak for themselves, and I confidently recommend them for the serious consideration of our non-official members of Council.

Reduce the Estimates, and abolish the offices of Acting Captain Superintendent, and Acting Deputy Superintendent, and Acting Assistant Superintendent, and give us an "Efficient Superintendent," with authority to stop the present wasteful expenditure, and put the Police in good working condition; so as to answer all our actual requirements and to command our respect and confidence.

The other day a friend of mine called at the Police Office and asked for the Captain Superintendent, and upon being informed that that officer was in England, next enquired for a Superintendent, and on being told that no such officer resided there, although there were Acting Captain Superintendents, Acting Deputy Superintendents, and Acting Assistant Superintendents, he requested to be introduced to a real Police Officer, and not an acting one, when he was ultimately directed to the Inspector on duty. My friend in his ignorance was probably looking for the absent officer—the Efficient Superintendent.—I am, Sir,

Yours faithfully,
JOSEPH HUME.

SHANGHAI.

The Venus, which arrived on Wednesday afternoon, extends dates to the 26th instant, but the papers are very barren of news. The annual excitement about the Registration squeeze was at it height, several prominent residents having been brought before the Court and fined the usual $10. The Daily News understands that the question will now be appealed home. The Chief Judge announced that no plaint would be received by the Supreme Court from non-registered British subjects, but that they would still be amenable to the Court as defendants. As many of the victims have not appeared in answer to the summonses it was further announced that warrants would be issued for their apprehension, and that there was a probability of their passing a night in jail.

H.B.M. Charge d'Affaire has confirmed the Chief Judge's recommendation, that the statutory sentence of death against Blauch and Macalister for the murder of the carpenter of the Newcastle, at Foochow, be commuted in the case of the former to one year's imprisonment, and payment of the expenses of the trial, and in the case of the latter, to an obligation to appear when called for.

SALUTARY PRECAUTION.

The editor of the Paris satirical journal L'Eclipse, who, in addition to being fined, was condemned to a fortnight's imprisonment the other day for publishing a portrait of Victor Noir without first obtaining the sanction of the Censure, had prepared for a recent number of his journal a portrait of Victor Noir's companion, M. Ulric de Fonvielle, in the guise of Truth, with a mirror in her hand, ascending all dripping from the conventional well. Profiting by his recent experience, the editor submitted this design to the Censure, hoping that the likeness would not be recognized. He was, however, mistaken; and the appearance of M. de Fonvielle, in what it is said the Censure described as an entirely new character, has been interdicted.—Pall Mall Gazette.

AN AMIABLE CLUB.

According to a Paris paper there has existed for some in that city a club, consisting chiefly of rich merchants, formed for the purpose of enabling its members to witness public executions. This club has made an arrangement with the proprietor of a wineshop in the Place de la Roquette, whose windows are immediately opposite to the spot where the guillotine is erected. Whenever an execution is to take place, the members of the club pass the night at this wineshop over a bowl of punch, so as to be ready for a good view when the "interesting moment" arrives. The following is a specimen of the circular which is sent to the members by the secretary of the club previous to an execution:—"Je suis heureux d'avoir à vous annoncer que c'est demain l'exécution de ——. N'y manquez pas, il a peur de la mort, ce sera drôle."—Pall Mall Gazette.

RAILWAYS IN EUROPE.

A German paper has made the following calculation: A train composed of all the locomotives and railway carriages in Europe would reach from St. Petersburg to Paris, and would contain 400,000 passenger carriages and 500,000 luggage vans. The railways of Europe are carried over 62,000 large and small bridges, and go through thirty-four miles of tunnel; 150,000,000 cwt. of iron has been used for the rails, and 80,000,000 cwt. of coals is required yearly to feed the engines. The network of European railways includes all States except Greece, Lippe-Detmold, Waldeck, and a few other very small German States. It represents a length of 70,718 miles; 18,000 locomotives are employed on it; the distance these run over during the year is 60,000,000 miles. If to this is added the distance passed over by passenger carriages and luggage vans, we get to 100,000,000 of miles.

MR. HOME'S "TRICKS."

A Viscount and an Earl have united in compiling and printing a book (for private circulation) narrating the marvellous "spiritual" feats of Mr. Home. No, not spiritual—they are anything but that; the feats of an acrobat are not more intensely physical than those which are described in this book. For instance, Mr. Home stretches himself at one time to a height nearly a foot beyond his usual stature; "he was elongated from his waist upward, and there was a space of four inches between his waistcoat and the waistband of his trousers;" he shortened himself and lengthened himself at will, walking about, Lord Adare and Mr. Jencken saw it and bear witness. At Ashley House, in the presence of Lord Adare and the Master of Lindsay, Home was seen to rise into the air four or five feet. He first rose to the back of Lord Adare's chair, who says, "I took both his feet in my hands, and away he went into the air so high that I was obliged to let go his feet." At No. 7 Buckingham-gate he rose in the air and his head became quite luminous at the top. He has also a capacity of floating out into the air from a high window, horizontally, and of returning through the window of another room. Mrs. S. C. Hall, the authoress, and her husband, were present when he took a mass of red hot coals in his hand, which he smilingly deposited on Mr. Hall's head, drawing up Mr. Hall's white hair over the live coals. Mr. Hall seemed to enjoy it; found it "warm, but not hot." We are to understand from all this that the disembodied spirits with whom Mr. Home is on such terms of intimacy have more power over matter than man has. At all events they seem to have a good deal of power over the deceitful and deceivable heart of man.—Bombay Guardian, Feb. 26.

THE "SPINDRIFT" AGAIN.

More correspondence about what The Times calls "The shameful wreck of the Spindrift." The term is a strong one, but not too strong; the loss of this fine vessel was as shameful to those responsible for her safety as the subsequent proceedings have been disgraceful to the tribunals on whom devolved the duty of investigating into and punishing the neglect it arose from. When the result of the inquiry became known, we expressed a hope that English shipowners and underwriters would not allow this mockery of judicial inquiry to pass unchallenged; nor have they. The Committee of Lloyd's have addressed a letter to the Board of Trade, asking for an explanation of the grounds on which the captain and pilot had been so leniently dealt with, inasmuch as all the inquiries that had taken place had failed to elicit one reasonable excuse for the loss of the ship. This letter was forwarded to the Elder Brethren to be answered, and their reply is a model of self-sufficient imbecility. "Elder Brethren," indeed! far advanced, we should say, in their second childhood. They presume, in the first place, to lecture the Committee of Lloyd's for interfering at all, on the ground that "parties interested in a question ought not to constitute themselves its judges," and go on to insinuate that the Committee are actuated by revengeful feelings in consequence of the magnitude of the loss sustained. Then, relapsing from impertinence into puerility, the Elder Brethren state that they have ascertained that the night was not so fine as it had been represented, but on the contrary was "a very deceiving one;" and that although it was a starlight night, and clear to seaward, there was some haze or mist about the Dungeness light. The Committee of Lloyd's naturally decline to receive these as satisfactory reasons for acquitting the captain and pilot of a serious charge, but we suppose they are powerless to do more than express their dissent. Our own impression is, that the sooner these Elder Brethren are superannuated, and their duties entrusted to more competent hands, the better.—London & China Express.

THE CITY MEMORIAL TO LORD CLARENDON.

To the Right Hon. the Earl of Clarendon, K.G., G.C.B. &c. &c., &c., Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

The Memorial of the Committee appointed at a meeting of merchants and others interested in the trade with China, held in London on the 13th January, 1870,

Respectfully sheweth.

1—That at the meeting above referred to, which was attended by representatives of nearly all the principal houses in the China trade, the provisions of the Supplementary Convention to the Treaty of Tientsin, recently concluded between H.M. Plenipotentiary and the Chinese Government, were considered, and resolutions, of which a copy is enclosed for your lordship's information, were unanimously agreed to. A committee was at the same time appointed to represent to her Majesty's Government the views upon this subject which were adopted by the meeting.

2—When it was stipulated by the Treaty of Tientsin of 1858 (embodied in the convention of 1860) that the tariff and Commercial Articles were open to revision at the end of every ten years, there can be little doubt that the purpose of such a stipulation was to afford an opportunity for securing in the future greater facilities of intercourse, increased expansion of trade, and more enlightened regulations for conducting it than had previously prevailed. In this sense H.M. Plenipotentiary sought to collect the opinions of the mercantile community in China, based on the results of their experience, desiring them to point out where the existing treaty was defective, and what new conditions would most benefit trade. A variety of information was furnished to him in reply, with the natural hope that proposals thus recommended would in a considerable degree form a basis for his negotiations. The actual result has caused much disappointment. It is felt that taken as a whole, the present Convention constitutes no improvement upon the Treaty of Tientsin, and that unless essentially modified it would be preferable to leave the matter unaltered. But it is in the hope that upon adequate cause being shown Her Majesty's Government may yet be willing to propose such modifications, that your Memorialists now venture to occupy your lordship's attention.

3—Your Memorialists are very ready to acknowledge that in some minor matters concessions have been granted by the Chinese; and did these stand by themselves, they would be received with thankfulness. But as such stipulations are expressly stated in the Convention (see Articles XII and XIII.) to be equivalent or set off for the much more important concessions agreed to by H.M. Plenipotentiary, it becomes necessary to scrutinize their value more closely, and to show how comparatively small will be their practical advantage to commerce.

4—Two new Treaty Ports are to be opened, Wuhu, on the Yangtze and Wenchow, in the province of Chekiang. As it is proposed to relinquish Kiungchow, in Hainan,* the net gain is one additional port. In process of time the new ports may possibly become of greater consequence; but so far as it is at present known of them we can do no more than hope that they may in time become places of trade. If so, it will be a mutual advantage to the Chinese and ourselves. We must point out, however, that British merchants, warned by past experience of land purchases, are little likely at present to settle at either place. Tea and silk can hardly be expected to desert their accustomed channels for these new outlets. British manufactures will in all probability be taken to an even less extent than at the adjoining ports, Kiukiang in the one case, and Ningpo in the other; while such traffic as may exist will fall far short of those extensive and regular transactions which alone can repay the cost of foreign establishments.

5—So long as access to China can be procured only by resorting to specific ports, every new one that is opened must be reckoned as something gained, even though the commercial results should prove insignificant. But your memorialists entertain a decided opinion that the object to be aimed at by British diplomacy is less to multiply the number of these fixed resorts than to obtain a general right of travel and settlement for the peaceful trader. How little this desideratum is accomplished by the convention is sufficiently shown in the somewhat humiliating provisions of Supplementary Rule 7. It must be remembered that besides the expensive consular and foreign Custom House establishments called for by the opening of a treaty port, foreigners commencing business there are practically obliged to purchase land, and build houses and warehouses, at a heavy outlay, since they are restricted to a special concession of ground on which such conveniences rarely exist, or where from the absence of competition to sell or let, the native owners soon learn to exact excessive prices. This property it becomes difficult or ruinous to abandon, should trade prove unsuccessful, as has already been the case at several treaty ports. Whereas, if British subjects were permitted to trade with their goods from point to point as openings offered, they might avail themselves of native buildings, establish inexpensive agencies, and enjoy facilities for fostering the small beginnings of trade in promising localities. Consular establishments and Foreign Inspectorates at the leading centres of business could then be made to suffice; and if the desire to extend peaceful intercourse really existed on the part of the Chinese Government, it ought not to be difficult to settle the regulations required to work it successfully.

6—The establishment of bonded warehouses is conceded, and will prove acceptable to some merchants; but it is probable that the privilege will only be taken advantage of to an inconsiderable extent, unless merchants are permitted to place their own warehouses under the bonding system. If the warehouses are to be owned by the Chinese Government, besides a probable difficulty in obtaining fire insurance upon them, few would think of leaving their goods in the custody of native officials, or could afford to incur rent for storage when left with empty warehouses of their own. The privilege, however, is one which has been sought, and full credit is due to the Chinese for conceding it.*

7—The principal remaining stipulations specified as concessions need hardly be dwelt upon; several of them indeed must rather be viewed in the light of restrictions. British subjects are already permitted to visit the interior in boats of native build, and constantly do so. Article IX. of the Treaty of Tientsin authorises them to travel and trade "to all parts of the interior under passports," and to hire men and vessels for that purpose. Article XII. regulates the conditions under which they may acquire land or buildings "at the ports or other places," and may "build or open houses, warehouses, churches, &c." Article XIV. again authorises them to hire boats and coolies without restriction of place. On the other hand the present Convention (see Supplementary Rule 7) prohibits steam vessels (perhaps the most effectual agency in opening up China), as well as the use of any private or national flag in the interior, and restricts residence to renting for short periods inns or private houses, on which merchants are not even at liberty to display their business name or designation. Ship-building materials of foreign origin have hitherto been admitted free of duty under the heading of "Ship's Stores" specified in the Treaty of Tientsin, though now to be restricted to such as are used for repairs only, a restriction likely to lead to much difficulty and dispute. The reduced duties on such small matters as watches, tin plates, pepper and timber may perhaps relieve foreign trade to the extent of £3,500 per annum; while the remission of all duty on foreign coal and guano may involve an amount of £3,200 per annum. The provisions designed to develope the production of Chinese coal may gradually become of service, although hitherto the coal has been found of very inferior quality. Foreign grain (i.e. rice) is already admitted duty free under the Treaty of Tientsin, and its re-exportation without paying export duty rectifies a practical injustice, which could only have brought in an inappreciable sum to the Custom-house.

8—Such on a careful examination of the Convention are all the articles which your Memorialists can discover as professing to confer benefits upon British trade. It is now necessary to contrast them with the new burdens to which that trade is rendered liable.

9—Passing by the question of the additional revenue conceded to the Chinese Government from the opium duty, amounting to an increase of about £410,000 per annum, as a matter rather affecting the revenues of British India than the interests of merchants in this country, the first topic of importance is the increased export duty on silk. The existing export duty of 10 taels per picul, and the transit duty from the interior to the port, if commuted under the present system, is five taels per picul, making together 15 taels per picul, or 9d. per lb. It is now proposed to double both the export duty and the transit duty, so that the total amount to be levied under the new system will be fully 1s. 6d. per lb. Your Memorialists cannot but regard it as an economic mistake to have assented to the artificial raising in price of this important raw material, at a time when exceptional cases have for some years past lessened the supply and enhanced its cost. From these unforeseen causes manufacturers in this country and on the continent have been conducting their business at a disadvantage, which would be increased by any further addition to the cost of raw silk. It has been alleged that the duty is raised because it had fallen materially short of the 5 per cent. ad valorem, which is the basis of the tariff. It can hardly be considered equitable, however, that the present exceptionally high prices should govern a re-adjustment of the duty. In former years, silk ruled at a price which made the ten tael duty a much nearer approach to 5 per cent. ad valorem, and should the disease now prevailing among the silkworms in Europe disappear, prices may revert to their old standard.† It may fairly be demanded too that if the silk duty is to be revised because it is proportionately too low, the tea duty ought to be revised because it is proportionately too high, being at present something like 12½ per cent. upon its cost. The addition to the Imperial revenue from the extra ten taels duty on silk may be estimated at £140,000 per annum. Assuming that the inland charges have hitherto amounted to only half the export duty, the extra five taels to be levied under the name of transit duty would amount to £70,000, making a total of £210,000 per annum conceded to China by this one article of the Convention.

10—In the preceding remarks a comparison has alone been made between the duties strictly leviable under the existing treaty, and the increased charge proposed by the new Convention. But it is well known that silk is already burdened with a much higher scale of taxation than the recognised tariff; and the illusory character of the remedy promised by the Convention for such exactions—namely, a return of the amount upon sufficient proof—may be estimated by the following particulars. Mr. Fitzroy, formerly Commissioner of Customs at Shanghai, in his official Report, dated 15th March, 1867, says that silk coming from the interior to Shanghai pays more than 30 taels per bale (equal to 37.50 taels per picul) as transit dues. Foreigners, to escape this excessive levy, took out transit passes at 5 taels per picul. It now appears that the Chinese have met this move by taxing the native dealers in silk instead of their produce; and licenses to trade are issued to them at the rate of 26 dollars on every bale of raw silk, and 36 dollars on every bale of thrown silk passing through their hands, or equal to about 18.6 taels and 26.8 taels respectively per picul. This exaction is happily illustrated by the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce, in the following passage:—"What would have been said if immediately after the conclusion of the Cobden Treaty with France, the French Government had proceeded to place a tax, not upon English goods, but upon those who traded in them; or what would have been thought if in the British Parliament a poll tax had been voted upon all persons who dealt in French wines? It is scarcely to be imagined that such ill faith would have been tolerated;—and yet it is what we are submitting to in China to this day."

11—Of even greater interest to this country, and especially to our manufacturing districts, is the provision which enacts that cotton, linen, and woollen goods and cotton mixtures are henceforward to pay import duty and transit duty together to the Custom-house at the time of importation, instead of the former system by which import duty alone was paid by the importer, and the transit duties adjusted as the goods passed on to the marts of the interior. If it could be shown, as the even probable operation of this change, that foreign manufactures, from the simple fact of their being foreign could pass freely and untaxed throughout the eighteen provinces of China, freed by the one extra payment at the port of entry, the new system would be a real boon to trade, and would be most cordially welcomed by your Memorialists. But a twofold objection here presents itself; first, that the Convention does not profess to do so much as this; and, secondly, that there is no guarantee offered, nor even provision suggested, for the effective fulfilment of what it does not profess to accomplish.

12—The Convention simply provides that the goods are to circulate freely in Treaty Port Provinces without certificates; but it appears (see clause 4 of the first Supplementary Rule), that whenever they leave such province, and reach their declared destination, they become subject to any imposts that the local authorities may think proper to levy. The Treaty Port Provinces are only eight (or with the new Port of Wuhu, nine) in number, and the effect of the regulation will be to discourage the use of British manufactures in one half of China.‡ Instead of being a step in advance, this stipulation is a distinct forfeiture of a former treaty privilege, for the Treaty of Tientsin (Art. XXVIII.) provided that British subjects desiring to convey goods to an inland market might exercise the option of paying a transit duty of 2½ per cent., on payment whereof a certificate shall be issued which shall exempt the goods from all further inland charges whatsoever." It is true that the bad faith of the Chinese has made this article generally inoperative, but it will not be denied that the object of British policy should be rather to ensure a better observance of existing privileges than voluntarily to abandon them when once acquired.

* Kiungchow, it may be remarked, was never opened to foreign trade, so that merchants had no opportunity of testing its capabilities. Application was made to our officials in China by parties who were prepared to proceed thither, but who failed in inducing them to move in the matter. The native trade in the adjoining Gulf of Tonquin is stated to be very considerable.

* At Shanghai there is an exceptional system of temporary storage on Public Wharves (so called, tho' owned by private persons or companies), and it appears from the last Report of the Chamber of Commerce that the Customs authorities have decided on converting these into bonded warehouses, and indeed on limiting to them the present application of the system.

† Sir Rutherford Alcock, in his explanatory despatch, seems to labour under the unaccountable delusion that the proposed addition to the silk duty is only 1 1-7 per cent. An inspection of any China prices current would have shown him that silk now ranges from about 350 taels to 560 taels per picul, duty paid. The duty and transit duty nominally amount to 15 taels (the transit duty being actually far more), and if the average is taken at 465 taels duty paid or 450 taels first cost, it would be fully high. The new additional duty is ten taels per picul or 2 and two-third per cent. on 450 taels. The extra tax now proposed to be levied is consequently three times as much as Sir R. Alcock believes it to be.

‡ The importance of the non-Treaty port provinces in the consumption of British manufactures is more apparent at Hankow than at any other port. There are sufficient grounds for estimating that quite four-fifths of the cotton and woollen piece goods imported there pass into these provinces; and the careful inquiries instituted by the delegates of the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce during the recent expedition up the Yangtsz, corroborate this view. They report that the province of Hunan takes by far the largest proportion of the Hankow imports, that Szechuen is only second in importance, especially for woollens, and that Hunan is likewise a very large consumer. This fact greatly aggravates the objection above referred to, that the right of the local authorities to levy their own taxes on manufactures in the non-Treaty provinces is especially recognised by this Convention.

A Massachusetts Mayor got off the following in his annual message: "As the eastern horizon of the present is made glorious with its beaming rays of opportunity, so may the sunset hour of the future, by the refractive influences of faithful duty, greet us with its gorgeous panoply of prismatic light."

Treaty Port Provinces are only eight (or with the new Port of Wuhu, nine) in number, and the effect of the regulation will be to discourage the use of British manufactures in one half of China.‡ Instead of being a step in advance, this stipulation is a distinct forfeiture of a former treaty privilege, for the Treaty of Tientsin (Art. XXVIII.) provided that British subjects desiring to convey goods to an inland market might exercise the option of paying a transit duty of 2½ per cent., on payment whereof a certificate shall be issued which shall exempt the goods from all further inland charges whatsoever." It is true that the bad faith of the Chinese has made this article generally inoperative, but it will not be denied that the object of British policy should be rather to ensure a better observance of existing privileges than voluntarily to abandon them when once acquired.

ENGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY, WITH THE
PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION.
AN ANGLO-CHINESE DICTIONARY, by the Rev. W. LOBSCHEID, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong.

FOR scope and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given, the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications.

The scope of the work is so great, and its utilitarian purposes so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully, with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasionally.

It comprises upwards of two thousand large quarto pages.

NOTICE.

TRANSGRESSION of the law, it is thought, is frequently committed from ignorance, and the regulations of the law must therefore be made public before they can be known. The undersigned having obtained the sole privilege of preparing and selling prepared opium, they fear that many merchants and traders, distant and local, purely from ignorance, may infringe the British law, and thereby lose their money, in addition to heavy fines that may be imposed upon them. This is a source of great anxiety to the undersigned; and for the general information of the public, they now set forth two sections of Ordinance 1858, relating to prepared opium. They are as follows:—

VII.—It shall be the duty of every person selling or retailing prepared opium under this Ordinance, to deliver therewith a sealed certificate specifying the amount sold, which certificate shall be evidence of the facts therein stated, and shall not be transferable.

VIII.—No person shall bring into this colony, or the waters thereof, or (except in cases to which section VII. applies) have in his possession or custody within the same any prepared opium.

Action will be taken against any person infringing the above sections for severe punishment, and no relaxation will be shown.

LETTERS, &c., ADDRESSED "LONDON" ONLY.

Many persons are in the habit of addressing Letters, &c., for well-known Firms and Individuals, to "London" only; but this practice not unfrequently occasions delay in such Letters &c. reaching their rightful owners. In all, cases, however well the Firm or Individual for whom a letter is intended may be known, it is most essential, to ensure its correct and prompt delivery, that the streets in which they resided, and the number of the house, should form a part of the address.
F. W. MITCHELL,
Postmaster General,

General Post Office,
Hongkong, 31st January, 1870.

It is hereby notified, by order of His Excellency SIR RICHARD GRAVES MACDONNELL, that henceforward, the rates of Postage chargeable on Packets of Printed Papers or Patterns of light weight sent from Hongkong to the United Kingdom when forwarded viâ Southampton, will be as follows:

For a Packet above one and not exceeding two ounces } 4 „

and of double those rates when forwarded viâ Marseilles.

Packets of greater weight than two ounces will remain subject to the same rates as are now chargeable, viz.:

8 cents for every four ounces when forwarded viâ Southampton, and 12 cents for every four ounces when forwarded viâ Marseilles.

This alteration will apply to Printed Circulars, Price Lists, Market Reports and all printed papers other than Newspapers; as well as to Books and Trade patterns or samples.
F. W. MITCHELL,
Postmaster General.

General Post-Office,
Hongkong, 12th August, 1869.

It is hereby notified for general information that, under the provisions of a Treasury Warrant dated the 7th December last, the scale of Progression of Weight having half-an-ounce for its unit, has been extended to all Letters forwarded between this Office and any of the Ports in China and Japan, and to letters addressed to Manila, Batavia, Saigon, Pondicherry, Bangkok, Labuan, Singapore, Penang, Malacca, Ceylon, India, Suez, Malta and the Ionian Islands, Gibraltar, and Spain and Portugal viâ Gibraltar.

The rates of postage chargeable in future on Letters addressed to these places will, therefore, advance by a single rate of postage for each half ounce.
F. W. MITCHELL,

Extracts.

New York to San Francisco.

(Daily Telegraph Correspondent.)

At night, when I strolled through the Chinese quarter again, the spectacle was more curious. The pavement was crowded with Chinamen talking incessantly and in loud tones. Entire alleys were filled with small houses, at the open windows of which painted female faces were clustered, and whence invitations, couched in broken yet very broad English, were sent to every male passer-by. The theatre is easily found by those who listen for the sounds of gongs and cymbals. A quarter of a dollar is charged for admission. As a rule the Chinese are disinclined to admit foreigners into their theatre. Negotiations, in which dollars or portions of them play the chief part, have to be entered into with the doorkeeper before he will allow that there is room. Inside, the house is arranged after the manner of lecture rooms. Rows of seats slope upwards from the pit to the opposite wall, and above this a gallery. The orchestra is at the back of the stage, and is composed of three or four performers, who keep up an incessant clashing of cymbals and beating of gongs. The noise is overpowering. When all the performers have momentarily left the stage, the unmelodious and ear-rending sounds are diminished in volume; but when the performers come forward and begin to speak the gongs are beaten and the cymbals clashed with increased vigour, and have a most unpleasant effect. It seemed as if the object of the members of the orchestra was to drown the voices of the players. In order to defeat this design the players yelled at the top of their voices. Never before did I hear musical instruments made to give forth more discordant and louder noises, and human throats utter words in equally loud tones. As to the merits or demerits of the piece I can say nothing. The first act had been performed several months ago, and the last would not be reached till several months hence. Regarded simply as a pantomime, it was a curious and clever performance. Feats of agility and trials of strength were common. The single combats were horribly real; spear-thrusts being delivered with wonderful energy, and sword-cuts made with such rapidity, that they could only be eluded by the exercise of a practised eye, and by extraordinary dexterity of fence. When the actors chased each other along the stage, impediments were surmounted in the style of the circus. Over chairs and tables they vaulted, turning summersaults in the air before alighting on the ground. They fell heavily, no spring-board or mattress being placed to aid them in jumping and to break the force of the fall. How they escaped with their ribs whole and their legs unbroken is incomprehensible. The costumes and make-up of the actors were very good. They always entered by the right door, and made their exits by the left, each entrance being a sort of triumphal procession. It was but seldom that the audience testified their satisfaction with the performance. But the attention of the spectators was rivetted on the stage. Nearly everyone had a Manila cigar or a cigarette in his mouth, and all smoked with a deliberation which demonstrated a desire to enjoy to the full the pleasure of the moment.

In the Chinese quarter, and in the streets leading from it, are streets wherein more danger is to be feared than among the Chinese themselves. Nearly every house is tenanted by women who, dressed in gaudy apparel, proclaim their occupation by look and gesture. Underground dancing saloons are numerous, and in them are to be seen what are here significantly styled "pretty waiter girls." These saloons are but traps baited and set for the unwary. These are the relics of San Francisco in bygone days, when its very existence was a scandal. The Vigilance Committee did invaluable service in clearing it of the thieves and murderers who were then a terror to the peaceable and well-disposed citizens. There is still some work for the police to perform in the interest of decency and order.

What impressed me most in the Chinese quarter was not any particular phase of life and novel kind of house, church, shop, hotel, or theatre, but the aspect of the place, and its inhabitants regarded as a whole. In China itself the like number of people dwelling, doing business, and enjoying themselves in the same way, would not produce a similar impression. In this case the force of contrast operates with irresistible effect. At one moment I am in Kearney-street or Montgomery-street, surrounded by tokens of Western civilization, and a few minutes afterwards I stand in what is a section of China. It is impossible for the most cursory observer to witness these things and to fail being struck with the fact that their continued existence involves the solution of a great problem. Of this the citizens of San Francisco are perfectly conscious. What they have done hitherto towards finding the desired solution does not entitle them to praise. At present, Chinese labour is as much a necessary of their existence as the clothes they wear. In private houses, John—all Chinamen being called John—is a far better servant than Biddy. He takes lower wages, he is temperate, honest, and respectful, he does his work with extreme care, whether it consists in washing dishes or nursing babies, scrubbing floors, or waiting at table. Manufactories would have to be closed, vineyards suffered to run wild, and many railroads would continue to be projects, were there no Chinamen to watch the spindles, tend the vines, cut the sleepers, build bridges, and lay the rails. Chinamen, however, are chargeable with the unpardonable fault of being Chinamen. The shape of their eyes, the hue of their skin, the cut of their clothes, nay even their virtues, such as prudence, patience, abstemiousness, attachment to the land of their birth, a desire that their bones should be laid amidst the bones of their ancestors, are all regarded as disabilities unfitting them for being treated as rational human beings. It is considered dangerous to stand on the platform of a street car, and passengers are prohibited from standing there. Yet the Chinamen and Chinawomen are compelled by a regulation of the company to stand on this platform, and are forbidden to sit inside. This barbarous and disgraceful regulation exceeds in wickedness the prohibitions which in other days excluded the negro from the street and the railroad car. It is illiberal to refuse to take the Chinese as passengers, but to carry them at the same rates as other passengers and to make them occupy places which are supposed to be dangerous can hardly be characterised in language sufficiently strong. Attempts have been made to make them the victims of the bitterest injustice of which men can be the victims. In the courts of law the evidence of Chinamen has been styled inadmissible. They might be wholly in the right, and yet be adjudged as wrongdoers. There was nothing to prevent a non Chinaman entering a house inhabited by a Chinese family, committing robbery and murder in the presence of several witnesses, and being held by the court to be innocent of an offence against the law. Happily this monstrous violation of the rights of the individual, which the statutes of California sanction, will not be possible in the future. I had the satisfaction of learning that Ah Hund, who was defendant in an action which came before a court of law during my stay in San Francisco, and who, if not permitted to testify, would have been robbed of his property, was placed in the witness box, in accordance with the judge's ruling that the Fourteenth Constitutional Amendment, while extending equality to the negro, likewise entitled the Chinaman to sue for justice, and insured that he would not sue in vain. That the Supreme Court of the United States will confirm this decision is regarded as certain. How far the efforts made by the Democrats, who are now the majority here, to persecute and expel the Chinese will prove successful, remains to be seen. The Alta California, which is an upholder of the Union rather than an organ of party, has made a bold and firm stand in favour of justice to the Chinaman. In one of many articles on the subject it remarks that if the Chinese were expelled, the value of landed property would at once decline 25 per cent.; that if they were excluded, the act would be a token of barbarism; and that not only unrestricted intercourse with China, but also kind treatment of the Chinese, is demanded by the spirit of the age. Furthermore, it is said that the old war cry of "America for Americans" is out of date, and there is no probability that "America for Irishmen" will be substituted. It is unquestionable that Chinese labour is a great boon to California. It is reasonable that if the Chinamen obey the law they should be protected by the law. Fortunately the statesmen of America have resolved upon opposing any attempt to desecrate the grand principles of the Republic by persecuting men on account of accidents of parentage and by establishing a class of Pariahs in the great home of a people in whose eyes rank is but a trivial distinction, and who maintain that birth neither entails disgrace nor confers merit.

CHARLES BARNARD, CLERKENWELL, LONDON, begs to inform the merchants of Hongkong that he will shortly introduce to their notice the "ELECTRO-CARBONIZED" PENS, recently invented and manufactured by him; and has no doubt, from the marked favor shown them, both in Europe and America, that the "Carbonized" Pens will also meet their approval. The above Pens possess many great advantages over the ordinary steel pens, not the least of which is their not being so liable to corrosion; the points are made circular, and will not cut or spatter through the thinnest or coarsest paper. They are uncommonly smooth on the point, and do not tire the hand or arm after excessive writing, neither do they leave that disagreeable cramped feeling usually experienced after writing a length of time, and will, if carefully used, out-last six or eight ordinary steel pens. The "Electro-Carbonized" Pens are used in preference to all others, not excepting Gold, by the principal Government offices, Bank, and Commercial Houses in Europe and America.

[From the "Economist."]

"THE NEW PEN:—"The more we write with the Carbonized Pen the better we are pleased with it. It is certainly the best article of the kind we have ever used, being free from the disagreeable spattering which steel pens are generally subject to, and they are the only pen that we have used that will not corrode with Arnold's writing fluid."
